THE TIME FOR NATIONAL SOCIALISM IS NOW!

In the Editorial of the last issue of Broadsword I drew our readers attention to the rapidly declining fortunes of the Labour Party. Since then the media has grudgingly admitted that the national membership of the Labour Party is in a state of terminal decline and at the present rate of loss, the Labour Party will cease to exist within a decade.
So what political force is going to fill the vacuum?

The political climate is changing rapidly in the UK and every newspaper headline that reports the latest outrage committed by an illegal immigrant, or the most recent arrests of 'home-grown' Islamic terrorists, moves the opinions of the White majority away from acceptance of a multi-cultural Britain.
More and more of our White neighbours are beginning to wake up to the reality of what multi-racial Britain really means and it is slowly dawning on them that what British Movement and other racial Nationalist organisations have been saying for decades is true. What we were predicting back in the 1970's and 1980's has come true and that the only way out of this situation is to adopt radical measures to reverse Britain's slide into chaos. Those radical measures are a full and uncompromising National Socialist agenda on race, immigration and citizenship.

THE WERWOLF COLUMN

OPPOSING THE MULTI-RACIAL SOCIETY IS AN ACT OF REBELLION.

Our People Are The Resistance In Occupied Territory.

It is an unfortunate fact of life that many of our supporters and activists live in some of the most heavily 'integrated' communities in Britain. They face the unpleasant reality of trying to maintain an Aryan lifestyle while being surrounded by the forces and chaos of multi-culturalism every day. There is no facet of their working day that does not feel the impact of the multi-racial society which has been foisted on so many British towns and cities. It is often only within the security and privacy of their homes that they can escape this daily confrontation and assault on their senses, and then only if they avoid watching TV or listening to the radio! The constant pressure and propaganda of the multi-culturalists is unrelenting. It is a testament to the dedication and determination of those British Movement supporters and activists that they can live and campaign within such occupied neighbourhoods, where the White British are often the ethnic minority. It is a testament to their commitment to their National Socialist beliefs and their refusal to compromise their ideology by giving in to the brainwashing of the multi-cultural media and its insidious forces.

In 21st Century Britain opposing the multi-racial society and the never ending influx of non-white immigrants, refugees and asylum-seekers is truly an act of rebellion. Living as a National Socialist and defending the concept of the '14 Words' is an act of resistance in the face of a determined and oppressive political system.

For many of our people they are the resistance in occupied territory, refusing to cave in to the alien influences that dominate their towns and cities.

MULTI-RACIAL MADNESS

Broadsword takes a look at the stories and incidents drawn from across Britain that best illustrate the depths into which our country has sunk as politicians, Police and the Race Relations industry impose political correctness and racial equality on the White British majority population.

THE SCANDAL OF THE KRISS DONALD MURDER CASE A Conspiracy to Play Down the Racial Nature of This Savage Murder.

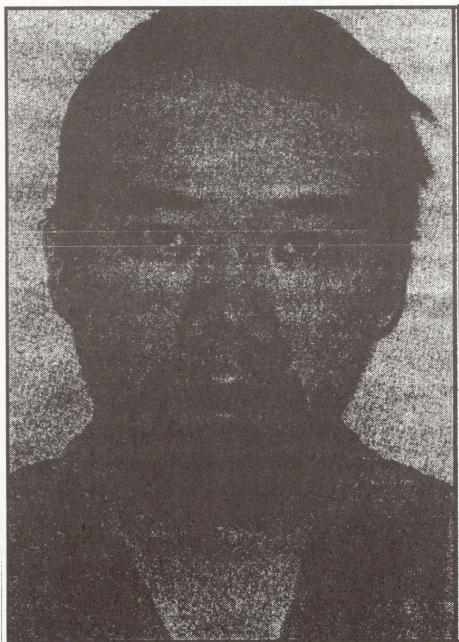

On Wednesday, 8th November 2006 a trio of Asian thugs were imprisoned for a total of 70 years for the brutal murder of 15 year old Glaswegian Kriss Donald. The reality of the case is that Scottish media, the Police, the main political parties and the race relations industry conspired to play down the details and significance of the case in "the interests of community relations". From the very beginning when Kriss Donald's mutilated body was found in March 2004, every effort was being made by the media and the Police in Glasgow to play down and even deny the racial nature of the murder. Some commentators even claimed that the fact that a young White teenager had been abducted and killed by a gang of Asian men was incidental to the case and was not significant. This despite the testimony of the eye-witness Jamie Wallace as to the fact that Kriss Donald was taken just because he was White.

Throughout the earlier court hearings in 2005, the racial nature of the case was under reported, the brutal murder of the young White boy received none of the media attention that had featured in the murder of the black London teenager Stephen Lawrence case. The Community Relations activist in Glasgow realised the threat to multi-racialism in Scotland and quickly mobilised high profile demonstrations against the killers and in 'solidarity' with the multi-cultural community in the Pollokshields district of Glasgow. Immediately after the trial the Scottish 'Daily Record' devoted an incredible eleven pages to the case, ensuring that the 'official' version of the case was available for mass consumption across Scotland. The newspaper even boasted that "racists" had failed to cash in on the case because the multi-racial residents of Pollokshields had stood together and united to bring the killers to justice. Prominent coverage was given to the role of Asian Glasgow MP Mohammed Sarwar in bringing the killers back from hiding in Pakistan. The Scottish Nationalist Party pushed out their 'local' Asian councillor Bashir Ahmad as evidence of their multi-cultural credentials and racially integrated membership.

Despite all their fine words nothing can change the fact that Kriss Donald was killed because he was White and his murderers wanted to kill a White man.

This Man is Hue Thi Thanh aka "The Boss"

For two years his gang of Chinese people smugglers brought hundreds of Malaysian women and girls into the UK to work as prostitutes in brothels and massage parlours in Notting Hill, St John's Wood and Birmingham. Women were brought to Britain posing as tourists, relatives or girlfriends of gang members. Using Terminal 3 at Heathrow airport as the pick up point, often the women thought they they were going to be employed in cleaning work or restaurants, many were forced into prostitution and were sold off to other gang members.

MULTI CULTURALISM IS NOT WORKING

British Movement totally rejects the concept of a multi-racial Britain.

November the 5th - Guy Fawkes Night BUT NOT IN TOWER HAMLETS!

The British tradition of Bonfire Night or Guy Fawkes Night on November the 5th fell victim to yet more politically correct multi-racial madness in Tower Hamlets in 2006.

Victoria Park, Hackney was the setting for Tower Hamlets council's fire work display dedicated to celebrating a Bengali folk tale of "the Emperor and the Tiger".

The Council spent £75,000 of local tax payers money to celebrate a Bengali cultural event which was intended to be "more inclusive" than the traditional British Bonfire Night. The event featured fireworks, music, dancing and singing, but no bonfire and no Guy Fawkes!

Tower Hamlets Council claimed that it celebrated Guy Fawkes night last year and it was the turn of other communities this year. The Bengali festival is not really intended for celebration on November 5th, but was made to 'fit' the situation.

* As Broadsword has warned many times before - British culture and traditions will be eradicated by the multi-culturalists in the interests of 'diversity'.

MULTI-RACIAL MADNESS

More Multi-Racial Madness Stories Taken From Both Local and the National Press Which Betray the Level of Insanity Behind the Pursuit of the Failed Concept of Multi-Culturalism.

'JELLY BABIES' RACISM TRIAL COST £250,000.

The British tax payer was the cost of the trial of two white London Tube workers on charges of "racial harassment". Victor Cooney and Carlo Rozza were cleared at Middlesex Guildhall Court on all charges for allegedly "racially harassing" a black colleague by making jokes about black 'jelly baby' sweets and 'threatening' to bite the heads off the black sweets! The two men were cleared at the end of the eight day trial which cost an estimated £250,000. The black complainant Daniel Jean-Marie had reported the incident which was investigated by the police and put forward for prosecution by the Crown Prosecution Service who said that there was a case to answer!

Did someone mention British Justice?

Migrant robbery gang is caged

A national newspaper actually admits the truth.

This cutting from 'The Sun' reveals the harsh reality of immigration and ethnic diversity. November 2006 saw this gang of violent robbers jailed after a long series of vicious crimes across London. This gang used guns, knives, and baseball bats to subdue their victims. Interestingly, the court were told that the gang were 'racist' choosing only White and Asian victims. Two of the gang, Luis Frota and Pedro Frota are Portuguese, Robert Lincoln is Jamaican, Sofian Majera is a Rwandan asylum seeker.

* As Broadsword has commented many times in this column, the race-mixers and liberals are constantly bleating that immigration is good for Britain and that immigrants 'enrich our culture'.

Tell that to the traumatised victims of this 'multi-racial' gang.

THE PRODUCT OF A MULTI-RACIAL SOCIETY

THE BRUTAL KILLERS OF A YOUNG LAWYER
Tom ap Rhys Price was stabbed to death by two feral teenagers Donnel Carty and Delano Brown. Carty and Brown hunted down the young lawyer as he left Kensal Green tube station in West London. Tom ap Rhys Price was killed for £20 cash, his mobile phone and his rail travel card - that was the price of his life. His killers were two street thugs, members of the self-styled 'KG Tribe'. The product of inner city multi-racial neighbourhoods, acting out their version of urban black street culture and 'gangsta' lifestyle. Carty was so convinced of his own 'street-cred' that he called himself 'Armani'

SPAIN

The Valley of the Fallen

In Broadsword Issue 31 we carried pictures of the ceremonies at the Valley of the Fallen where the Spanish Nationalists and Falangists commemorate the ictory of 1939 and the triumph of General Franco over the leftist Republic.

Now the Socialist Spanish Government are seeking to outlaw the annual gatherings at the Valley of the Fallen and are seeking to honour the losers in the Spanish Civil War by introducing legislation which will 'punish' the Nationalists and honour the leftists and their Marxist allies in the International Brigades.

There are plans to grant the right to Spanish citizenship to surviving International Brigade volunteers. There are plans to remove Francoist symbols from state-owned buildings and town councils are being urged to remove any Francoist memorials and to rename streets named after General Franco or any of Franco's key supporters or Falangist dignitaries. Spanish Prime Minister Jose Luis Zapatero is being urged by left-wing campaigners to pass new laws banning any kind of 'apology' or celebration of the Franco regime. There are also plans for financial compensation for former political prisoners of the Franco regime who were forced into labour battalions to work on state sponsored projects and buildings.

EUROPE

European Union Panics as 'Far-Right' Bloc Is Established in Euro Parliament

Brussels: The Leftist dominated European Parliament has often trumpeted its commitment to 'diversity' and 'equality' across the countries of the European Union and has thrown thousands of Euros into funding assorted committees and reporting groups dedicated to investigating 'racism and xenophobia' or combating nationalism or countering so-called anti-semitism. Now however those same champions of democracy and inclusion are panicing about the establishment of a new political bloc within the European Parliament, a political bloc which is now entitled to direct EU funding, estimated at about 1 million Euros. That bloc is the newly created "Identity, Tradition and Sovereignty" (ITS) bloc represented by 20 MEP's drawn from the assorted nationalist and ultra-conservative parties of the European Parliament.

The addition of new MEP's from Bulgaria and Romania has given the bloc of nationalist MEP's sufficient numbers to gain official recognition and funding. The ITP bloc states it is dedicated to "Christian values, the family and European civilisation".

It is probably the latter element of their statement which has upset the European Left.

The ITP bloc numbers MEP's from the Front Nationale (France), Vlaams Belang (Belgium), Austrian Freedom Party, Alternativa Sociale (Italy) which includes MEP Alessandra Mussolini, and the new arrivals, National Union Attack (Bulgaria) and the Partidul Romania Mare.

Uprising -2006 - It is not over yet !

Budapest, October 2006.

The 50th Anniversary of the 1956 Hungarian uprising against Soviet oppression and once the streets of Budapest are witness to a civilian uprising against an unpopular government. The Socialist prime minister Ferenc Gyurcsany ordered riot police onto the streets to clear the crowds demanding his resignation after losing local elections on October 1st. Prime Minister Gyurcsany refused and crowds of Hungarians formed mass demonstrations against the left-wing government. When the riot police arrived barricades were built on the streets and squares of the Hungarian capital and the crowds fought back.

The Western media, including the BBC were quick to highlight the presence of Hungarian 'Far-right' activists in the protests, cameras zoomed in on shaven-headed protestors, especially those with prominent swastika and 'SS' tattoos and badges. Large crowds of Hungarian Nationalists carried the old red and white striped flags of the 'Arpad' recalling the Arrow Cross organisation and the Hungarian Nationalist movements of the 1930's and 1940's.

FRANCE

French Police Shoot Dead 'Racist' Football Fan

November 2006 - Parc de Prince football stadium Paris. Paris Saint-Germain (PSG) played Hapoel Tel Aviv in the UEFA Cup. PSG lost 4-2 to the Israeli team. After the game PSG fans took out their frustrations on groups of French Jewish youths who had turned out to support the Israeli team.

During one confrontation, a black undercover police officer Antoine Granomort opened fire on the PSG fans killing 24 year old Julien Quemener and wounding a second man. It was alleged by some sources that officer Granomort was not directly involved in security at the game but had been guarding police vehicles and acted to protect a Jewish fan, Yanniv Hazout who was being chased by a gang of PSG fans who were chanting anti-Jewish and anti-Israeli slogans. Other witnesses claimed that police officer Granomort panicked when he was cornered by the PSG fans who attacked him because he was an armed black man and did not identify himself as a policeman, instead he had stepped out in front of the PSG fans spraying tear gas at them. When the PSG fans charged at him he pulled out a handgun and opened fire indiscriminately. The Jewish fan, Hazout had used the distraction to escape into a MacDonald's burger bar, followed by officer Granomort, where non-white staff locked the doors to hide them. Angry PSG fans then laid siege to the building, until uniformed police arrived. Later officer Granomort was declared to have acted 'lawfully' in self-defence against a racist mob.

INDIA

Bombay - A new restaurant called 'Hitler's Cross' opened in August 2006 in the Khargar district of this major Indian city. The restaurant was decorated outside a large swastika and a large window portrait of the Fuhrer. The interior was decorated in the colours red, white and black. Not surprisingly the opening of this 'themed' restaurant has drawn cries of outrage from Zionist quarters. Jonathan Solomon, Chairman of the Indian Jewish Federation, and Rabbi Gavriel Holtzberg of the city's synagogue, denounced the Indian businessman behind the restaurant and organised protests outside the building.

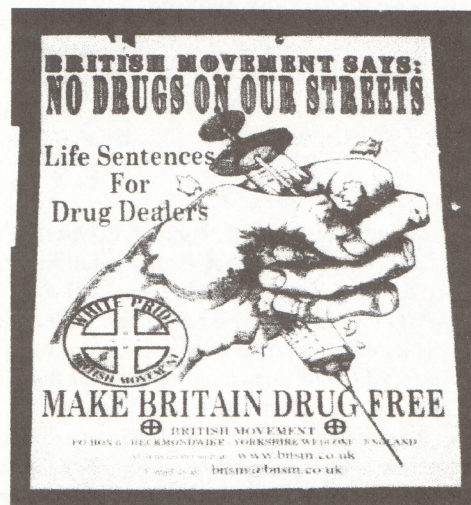

BRITISH MOVEMENT IN ACTION

Building Support in the Community.

If there is one thing about BM's political activities that really frightens our opponents on the Far-Left and amongst the mainstream political parties it is those events which build up grassroots support amongst White working-class communities. The BM's long running 'moral issues' campaigning against paedophiles and sexual degenerates; the anti-drug leaflets and posters, all have an impact and build up a base of support amongst normally non-political local people. Across the country we have had numerous examples of local people expressing their support for BM's actions, whether it be a pub landlord thanking 'the lads' for clearing "the druggies" out of his premises, or the highly visible poster blitz outside the home of a convicted child molestor, or the local newspaper in Lancashire that responded to a BM supporter's drive to have the police take action against 'cottageing' homosexuals in run down public toilets. (See Broadword issue 28).

Our enemies know that we can easily build up a groundswell of support by our morality campaigning in areas where the evil forces of decadence and multi-cultural tolerance are upsetting the ordinary White people.

The ordinary folk on the streets want radical solutions to the evils created by liberal legislation and soft policing.

REAL FAN MAIL

Dear Sir,

I saw a sticker "Britain For the British" on a lam-post outside my home. I was grateful to see it and I wish to express my total agreement with your message. As a British Whiteman born and bred in this country it makes me angry that our great Homeland has been invaded by hordes of non-white aliens who have no loyalty to our Folk, our Land, our Culture or our Heritage.

We don't need immigrants. Our White Folk have all the talents and skills we need to survive and prosper as a Nation and as a Folk. What has happened to our sacred Nation in the last 50 years is nothing but a systematic and anti-white racial genocide perpetrated by a narrow political elite. Politicians of Left and Right have totally betrayed our people and future generations of White people. It is good to see that the British Movement is alive and active and getting the truth out. Your presence is needed and welcomed.

The Lord Chancellor Gets Another House (Residence Number Seven). Tony Blair rewards Lord Falconer with a £200,000 a year flat in Admiralty House.

October 2006.

Lord Falconer, a close friend of Prime Minister Tony Blair has been rewarded with a £200,000 a year flat in Admiralty House, to be used for 'official entertaining.

A nice little perk for such a highly placed member of the New Labour hierarchy, except that the Lord Chancellor already has six, yes six other residences!

Lord Falconer is certainly not short of property into which he can choose to live or 'entertain'.

The official register of interests shows that Lord Falconer and his wife Marianna Hildyard (a barrister) share a £4 million property portfolio. Typically for the New Labour elite, the pair have expensive properties in Islington, North London; a £2.5 million Georgian town house as well as properties in Nottinghamshire, including a £550,000 country retreat.

Tony Blair has seen fit to further reward his former boss in chambers with the use of property number seven, at the tax-payers expense. After all Lord Falconer is a loyal member of the New Labour cabinet and Secretary of State for Constitutional Affairs. He obviously needs another residence, after all Britain does not have a problem with a shortage of houses does it?

All those jailed had previous convictions for vio-

One gang member, Marion Stubbs had previous convictions for raping a schoolgirl, and was once charged for conspiring to murder a rival who would not convert to Islam. FULL REPORTS: PAGE 2

This typical news headline for the South London Press should be excellent propaganda for the British National Socialist and British Nationalist cause because they highlight everything that is wrong with living in such a concentrated multi-racial and multi-cultural population. BUT, and its a big but, the White population left in London are either so cowed and shell shocked by the immigrant presence or they are committed leftist race-mixers who constantly make excuses for the ethnics and the criminality of the multi-racial underclass. These headlines are so frequent in the London media now that people of all races have come to accept them as what it means to live in London and just struggle to survive on the streets.

OPERATION TRIDENT ARRESTS GUN GIRL AGE 14.

Operation Trident is the Metropolitan Police special operations unit which is dedicated to the 'black on black' shootings and gun crime in Greater London.

October 16th 2006 and a 14 year old girl from Colindale was arrested and charged with conspiring to supply machine guns to black gang members. The arrest came at the end of a weekend of shootings across immigrant areas of London.

Scotland Yard has stated that it is becoming increasingly concerned at the young age of both young black men and girls caught up in Operation Trident arrests.

At the same time the 14 year old girl was arrested, a 16 year old black male was charged with possession of a revolver with intent to endanger life, possession of five CS gas sprays, and possession of both cannabis and crack cocaine.

Operation Trident detectives said that there is increasing evidence of the teenage girlfriends of young gangsters carrying and hiding guns and ammunition for their boyfriends.

* As this column has said many times before; if these people had not been allowed to settle in Britain, we would not face these problems.

Typical Front Page Headline For The SOUTH LONDON PRESS

This was the front page story for Tuesday 28th November 2006. Most Londoners have got used to these stories and they are part of everyday life on the streets of Greater London.

MIXED - RACE

THE UK'S GROWING MIXED-RACE POPULATION IS THE GREATEST THREAT TO GREAT BRITAIN'S RACIAL INTEGRITY.

According to recent population study statistics, the fastest growing part of the UK population in terms of birthrate is the so-called mixed-race population.

The mixed-race part of the British genetic mix is a post-immigration product of the 1960's and 1970's and is largely born out of inter-racial relationships between the White British and the Afro-Caribbean communities. Race mixing between White British and Asians or Orientals is very much a minority in the mixed race equation.

Whatever else the growth of the mixed race population especially in the larger urban centres is a ticking timebomb for the future UK population.

The leftist and the liberals have set their eyes solidly on some future date when the UK population will be dominated by the mixed race peoples as this will effectively solve the question of a multi-racial Britain because the White British will become a minority that can increasingly be sidelined and with their dwindling influence on the national culture and customs, the rootless cosmopolitan population will dominate national life and break forever any link between the population of the UK and its White British heritage and traditions.

Only by ensuring a healthy growth in the indigenous White British population can we guarantee the survival of OUR people.

REMEMBER THE 14 WORDS!

We Must Ensure the Existence of Our People and a Future for White Children.

INSERTING THE 'ETHNICS' INTO OUR HISTORY.

How TV series Distorts the Stories of Our Past.

In a concerted campaign to convince generations of young British TV viewers that there have always been blacks and Asians in Britain's population, the scriptwriters of a wide range of British TV programmes and costume dramas are deliberately putting black and Asian characters into historical dramas. This is plainly a ruse to serve two race-mixing agendas; first to convince young viewers that the 'ethnic minorities' have always been here in Britain and therefore their presence here should not be questioned; secondly to provide non-white TV audiences with characters that they can identify with and help to justify their presence here in Britain.

Not content with deliberately organising the racial mix of children's TV presenters to reflect every possible racial group in the UK (the current crop of BBC 'Blue Peter' presenters being a good example), TV series such as the laughably inaccurate BBC 'Robin Hood' series features black and Asian characters at a time when such individuals would rarely have been seen in London's port areas, much less cavorting around the forest villages of Nottinghamshire.

On top of this the assorted TV channels are stretching historical accuracy to the limits in the range of dramas and self-styled 'docu-dramas' purporting to examine Britain's colonial past and the slave trade. The slave trade gives the script writers and casting agents every opportunity to infer that there have been "established" black communities here in Britain for at least two hundred years, so the nasty White racists should not object to the presence of black communities here today. If millions of TV can be brainwashed into accepting this version of history, the ideologically driven campaign by the TV opinion shapers hope to totally undermine the White Nationalist argument that the blacks and Asians cannot share our history and heritage and don't belong here.

'B.M.E.'

Black Minority Ethnic the new buzz word for the Politically Correct.

Black and Asian Minority Ethnic

All part of the new language invented by the soft-Left Liberals to change the way the British people think by 'teaching' (re-educating) them that words like immigrant, Paki, hald-caste and Negro are no longer acceptable.

Words like "wog" and "Nigger" are now prosecutable, and are their use in public are grounds for arrest in Politically Correct New Labour Britain. New concepts in language distortion - 'Newspeak' in the Orwellian language employed by the apparatchiks of the New-Left who dominate the think-tanks and the unelected, opinion shaping departments of both local and central government. The latest idea shift is the notion of "majority-minority city" or "majority-minority district" or borough. This particular exercise in distorting the English language is the politically correct method of explaining away to the general population the fact that some cities, towns, districts or boroughs in the UK are now totally dominated by 'ethnic minorities' and the White British majority population are actually the minority population in those areas. This level of population domination by non-whites is of course completely acceptable to the ideologues and political manipulators of the liberal Left, but has to be explained in non-threatening terms to average member of the British public. The use of distorted meanings is vital to the brainwashing of Joe Public and his acceptance of the unacceptable face of mass immigration into Britain and the forced creation of a multi-racial society.

THE NOT SO SUBTLE WORKINGS OF THE SECRET STATE: A Broadsword Columnist Reflects on the Writings of Stella Rimington, Recently Retired Head of MI5.

STELLA RIMINGTON was once the Director of MI5, the British Intelligence Service.

She is now retired and has left behind "The Great Game", as spying has been called. Mrs. Rimington has taken up writing books, perhaps this might suggest that her state pension is not sufficient to keep her in the manner to which she has become accustomed; but maybe she just wants to express herself and make some extra cash at the same time.

I have only read one of her books, Secret Assets, but it gives you some idea of the mindset of the people who work in the Intelligence Services.

Mrs Rimington has created a lady spy, Liz Carlyle in her book as a mouth-piece for her own thoughts, and the former Head of MI5 appears to think that British Nationalism is an extremist position to adopt. I wonder why? After all, what is wrong with British? After all, our fore-fathers were not ashamed to be called British when they took our great culture over into the world to establish the Pax Britannica. We had an Empire upon which the sun never set, but the Lib-Lab-Conservative establishment cast it all away with their crackpot politics of guilt, shame and self-hatred. Who can doubt that our former African colonies would have been more peaceful and more prosperous under British Colonial Governance than under the rule of the greedy covetous barbaric men who now rule Africa? Since the 1960's, these men have looted Africa of its wealth and have slaughtered anyone who got in the way of their building themselves bigger and better palaces and personal fortunes. Mrs Rimington has a character in her book named Sohail Din (perhaps a distant relative of Gunga Din). I'll leave you to guess his ethnic identity, but he was on the side of MI5. He was one of their assets and they pretended to look after him and reward his loyalty - what nonsense! Lots of former MI5 assets have protested over the way they were done down by British Intelligence (which includes Special Branch). The magazine "Bye Spy" has printed material about this, it shows a wilful betrayal of the loyalty of those people who were Intelligence assets.

In fact anyone who helps our officers of State in the intelligence services is extremely unwise in my opinion. In her book the suspicion for Sohail's murder falls on British Nationalists - surprise, surprise!

According to the book the BNP has been "particularly active" in the area where Sohail was murdered. I'd like to ask what are the statistics for the murder of ethnic minorities by British Nationalists? The National Front have a list of around 140-150 white British people who have been murdered by ethnic minorities but Stella Rimington does not say one word about this. She has a Labour Councillor Omar Singh, who says, "This killing has all the hallmarks of a racial murder and we are told that the BNP has refused to comment". There is after all a tendency in the media to blame a lot of the trouble in Britain and further afield, on Britain's Right Wing Nationalists. If, for example, White Nationalists call a public meeting in one of our great cities, the middle-class Left will bus in their rent-a-mob from all over the land to yell their hate at decent British folk. It has even been known for Special Branch to go around the halls to get the bookings cancelled to prevent Nationalists holding their meetings.

I can recall being at a meeting organised by the BNP in the city of Edinburgh some years ago. The police actually stopped a train bringing Nationalists up from England to attend the meeting. The police ordered the BNP men off the train and marched them over to the opposite platform where they were told to get onto the train and return to England. Anyone who refused was threatened with instant arrest.

This is the Sovietisation of Britain and the Intelligence Services have worked to create this situation. Meanwhile, in Edinburgh's Haymarket Station, droves of Left-wing thugs gathered to oppose the British Nationalists they thought would be arriving. I saw young British Nationalists in George Square, Glasgow walking towards Queen Street station when they were attacked by Left-wing thugs. I saw young white men, their faces slashed by screwdrivers and blades wielded by Left-wing thugs and ethnic minority hooligans. Where was the Special Branch then? Stella Rimington misses out such facts in her novel. She hides the events behind made-up stories about British Nationalists. There is however a telling remark by one of her characters, the principal spy Liz Carlyle says, "I was a bit of a Lefty at University, I'm surprised I got through the vetting". I don't see why she should be so surprised, the British Intelligence Services, MI5, MI6, and Special Branch have always been infiltrated by Left-wing activists, not in fiction, but in reality. In the 1940's, 1950's and 1960's, the so-called "Cambridge Apostles", betrayed Britain's secrets to the Soviet Union. These men and women were all Left-wing activists recruited into British Intelligence. Earlier in the century, one man in the Intelligence Services fed information to Michael Collins of the IRA which led to a blood-bath when British Agents in Dublin were murdered by IRA gunmen. "Lobster" magazine tells us that there were droves of homosexuals inside MI5 and MI6, all of them got through the vetting procedure. Some even went to serve in the Intelligence Services in Ulster during the troubles. One MI5 officer went home on leave to London from Ulster and was horribly murdered by his homo,rent boy bedmate. He was repeatedly stabbed in a frenzy of hate. The message being "Don't mess with homosexuals!" No comment on this by Mrs Rimington. Novels such as her's help to form public opinion, Stella Rimington is respected because she is a former Head of MI5 and yet she says that the 'Far Right' in Britain are conceivably dangerous. If a lowly working class man like myself derides the rubbish reported about the patriotic British Right in such a novel, the media buffs will sneer, "What do you know?"

Why Are Muslim Sharia Courts Operating Here in Britain?

November 2006 - The BBC Radio 4 programme
'Law in Action' revealed that the Government were aware that unofficial Islamic courts were operating in some British cities amongst the larger immigrant communities.
The startling news is that some elements in the Muslim communities in the UK are not only campaigning politically to get Sharia law into the British justice system, but are actively operating Sharia courts in British towns and cities.
The news programme cited the case of an unofficial court being held in Woolwich, South-East London, where Islamic Somalian law was used to try the case. A local authority funded Somali Youth Worker, Aydarus Yusuf, was quoted as saying, 'He is more bound by the law of the country of his birth than by British law.' Yusuf stated "Somalis, wherever we live in the world, have our own law."

Dr Prakesh Shah of the University of London, defended the idea by saying, "Tribunals like the Somali court could be more effective than the formal legal system in maintaining social harmony."

Did someone mention British Justice?

The Struggle To Bring You Broadsword Continues.....

Broadsword magazine is a 'stand-alone' publication, self-financing and receives no additional financial support from British Movement/British National Socialist Movement funds.

In the last two years the Broadsword team has had to spend some of its scarce resources in order to replace outdated computer and desk-top publishing equipment and software. This expenditure has been necessary because dated and unreliable IT equipment was delaying production of the magazine. A double-edged sword because shortage of funds also delays regular publication of Broadsword magazine. Rising printing and production costs have added to these problems and have forced the Broadsword team to temporarily reduce the number of issues published per year. The original target was for Broadsword to become a quarterly publication, unfortunately this has been reduced to twice yearly or three times a year if funds will stretch to it.

We will continue to produce and publish Broadsword, honouring subscriptions, but we ask our subscribers and loyal customers to be patient and bear with us, we will overcome this situation and will return to a situation where Broadsword is once again a quarterly magazine.

Our readers can help us by taking bulk orders of the magazine, by helping us find new subscribers and generally build up the magazine sales and circulation.

Donations to Broadsword would help us greatly.

Thank you for your support and patience.

'THE AENGLISH'

THE COMING OF THE SAXONS

AFTER THE ROMANS THE CELTS LOSE CONTROL OF BRITAIN TO THE GERMANIC INVADERS FROM THE NORTH SEA TRIBES WHO WILL BECOME THE ANGLO-SAXONS.

The Coming of the 'Saxons'

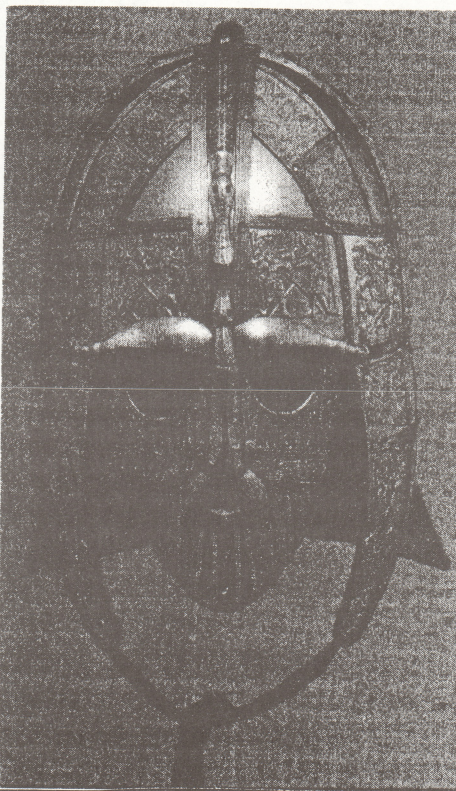

From the end of Roman rule in Britain to the establishment of the early English kingdoms is a long period of confused history some of it written and recorded, some of it known through legend and folk tales, it was the beginning of what Victorian writers called 'the Dark Ages'.

However it was a major turning point in the history of our nation and the beginnings of the people who would become the English.

To the Celtic peoples of Britain, all the peoples of the North Sea tribes of Western Europe were known as 'Saxons' - the 'Sais'.

In reality these were Jutes, Frisians, Saxons and Engles (Angles) drawn from the coastal seaboard of modern Denmark, North West Germany and the Netherlands. These were Germanic peoples with a different language, dialects, beliefs and social structures to those of the British Celts, a people they came to call the 'Welsh'. The coming of the Saxons saw the coming together in Britain of two of the strongest ethnic bloodlines in Europe Germanic and Celt a fusing of nations which would permanently change the structure and language of the British Isles forever. This article can only scratch the surface of this huge topic which takes volumes to cover, but as with other articles in this series we will attempt to provide an over view of this hugely important period of British History.

The first 'Saxons' to arrive in Britain came as mercenaries hired to prop up the struggling petty kingdoms which had survived the departure of the Romans and were attempting to hold together Romano-British society in the face of resurgent Celtic tribes from the north and the west, in addition to the Picts from further north (modern Scotland). The initial landings by mercenary warriors were soon followed by boatloads of settlers, warriors, farmers and their families. The first 'Saxons' are generally thought to have arrived in southern Britain between 446 and 454 AD.

The Sutton Hoo helmet
A magnificent relic from the famous ship burial in the Kingdom of Saxon East Anglia.

Traditional history has it that three different Germanic or Teutonic tribes came to Britain at this time, the Angles (Angli), the Saxons (Saxones) and Jutes. Hengist and Horsa were reputedly the first chieftains to bring their warriors to Britain, invited here to fight for the Romano-British prince Vortigern (see Broadsword issue 30).

Hengist and his son Oisc are believed to have arrived in 449 AD, six years later they were recorded as having fought against Vortigern and it is claimed that Oisc (or Aesc as he is sometimes referred to) founded the Kingdom of Kent.

The White Horse traditions of the county of Kent recall the associations with the tribes of Hengist and Horsa, who according to legend were the tribe of the 'White Horse' or the 'Horse People'.

The years 457 to 477 AD were years of battles and conquests across southern Britain. It was the period of King Arthur, the legendary Celtic British king, still celebrated in Welsh as the slayer of the 'Sais'. Arthur reputedly halted the spread of the 'Saxons' into the south-west and Wales, his greatest battle being fought at Badon (Mons Badonicus).

The Saxons brought with them a different social and political structure to that of the Romano-British or the Celts and their settlements were smaller and closer in style to that of the Celts than the Romanised British towns and cities. By and large the new comers avoided the Roman style towns, buildings and villas. The later Saxon period saw the establishment of great royal houses and dynasties in southern and eastern Britain, the Kentish, South Saxon and West Saxon royal kingdoms which would later see the united Anglo-Saxon kingdoms of southern England centred on their capital city of Winchester, where the royal household of the kings of Wessex would come to dominate the throne of England.

The other important Saxon kingdoms were to be established on the Isle of Wight, and the central kingdom of Mercia and the northern kingdom of Northumbria. Elsewhere the Celtic peoples still dominated the regions of the west and the north west, but the influx of Angles, Saxons and Jutes did not mean that the residual British and Celts in the south and east of Britain were exterminated. Without doubt there were elements of what today is called 'ethnic cleansing' during the early periods of warfare, but pockets of Celts and Romano-British continued to exist or intermarry with the newcomers. The military struggle for border areas would continue for many years interspersed by raids from the northern Welsh (Scotland).

The patterns of settlement and conquest is still reflected in modern British regional and county names; Wessex was the land of the West Saxons; Sussex the land of the South Saxons; Essex the East Saxons; East Anglia the land of the East Angles; the Middle Angles were in Mercia and north of the River Humber; the Jutes were in Kent and the Isle of Wight.

Our Ancestors

THE ANGLO-SAXONS - Part 1

The Saxon royal households brought to Britain their religious belief systems, some royal blood-lines claiming direct descent from the Gods themselves. The chieftain Seaxneat who was the ancestor of the Saxon kings of Essex claimed direct descent from Woden. Hengest and Horsa also claimed descent from the same immortal bloodline, they were the sons of Wihtgils, the son of Witta, of the family of Wecta, a son of Woden. The gods and goddesses of the Anglo-Saxons were those of the Germanic tribes of Western Europe and the Anglo-Saxons did embrace Christianity until much later in their history, in fact the establishment of Christianity in Britain which had begun during the Roman occupation was set back by decades when the Saxons began to colonise the southern regions of the country. It is generally accepted that it was about 150 years into the Saxon period when Augustine landed in Kent in 597 AD to bring Christianity to the Anglo-Saxons.

The impact of the Anglo-Saxons religious beliefs has left a permanent mark on British social structures and the English language. The days of the Old English week are drawn from the Anglo-Saxon gods, only to re-enforced centuries later by the Norsemen, who shared the same basic pantheon and mythologies with variations in names and deities and festivals.

Tuesday (after Tiw or Tig), Thursday (after Thunor), Wednesday (after Woden), Friday (after Frig).

Place names also drew connections with the sacred influences of the Anglo-Saxon gods and today can indicate ancient Anglo-Saxon settlements or places of special significance. Thunor, the God of Thunder was a common focus for place names, such as Thunderfield near Reigate in Kent, or Thundridge in Hertfordshire, Thursley in Surrey. Legend has it that Hengist and Oisc fought one of their greatest battles against the 'Welsh' at a place called Crecganforf (modern Crayford in Kent). Other place names drew on the geography or landscape features such as Harrow on the Hill which is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "the holy place of the Gumeningas" (Gumeningas being the dominant tribe in that area).

* Perhaps some Broadword readers are aware of specific Anglo-Saxon place names in their own locality, particularly those who live in South-eastern England.

Anglo-Saxon folklore had a lasting impact on British customs and folkways, many of their stories and heathen practices survived long into and in some cases beyond the Christian period.

Perhaps the most famous being the story of 'Beowulf' which is the oldest piece of literature in the English language. So too with the Anglo-Saxons came a different form of writing, the Romano-British had increasingly used Latin and Roman script whereas the Celts had followed a verbal non-written system with limited use of the mysterious Ogham script. The Saxons brought with them the Runic alphabet, the Anglo-Saxon Futhorc. The importance and significance of the runic alphabet will be dealt with in future issues of Broadword magazine as part of the exploration of the Anglo-Saxons as 'Our Ancestors'.

THE FOUNDATIONS OF A NATION

The country which was to become England starts to take shape as the Germanic tribes settle in what was 'Albion'. Over the next four hundred years the Saxon kingdoms of Wessex, Northumbria, Mercia and East Anglia begin to take shape. The North Engle create Northumberland; the Mercians, the Middle Engle and Lindesey combine to create Mercia, the Jutes join the West Saxons, East Saxons and South Saxons to build Wessex. Northumberland includes the sub-kingdoms of Deira and Bernicia; Wessex includes the sub-kingdoms of Kent, Sussex, Middlesex and Essex; East Anglia includes the lands of the Northfolk and the Southfolk.

Elsewhere the Celtic peoples dominate, the Welsh rule the kingdoms of Gwynedd, Dyfed and Powys; the areas of modern-day Devon and Cornwall are also 'Welsh'; the Strathclyde Welsh rule what is now central and south west Scotland and the Lake District. Further to the north the Picts ruled the rest of modern Scotland and modern Ireland was home to the Gaels.

Blood & Biology The Ideological Roots of 21st Century National Socialism

The Ideological Roots of Modern National Socialism Are to be Found in the Principles and Theories Laid Down in the Germanic-SS in the 1940's.

The Germanic-SS Developed the Concept of a Pan-European National Socialist Movement Which Embraced All European Nations. Those Ideals Spread Beyond 1945 and Evolved Into the Form of National Socialism Advocated by British Movement Today.

The bedrock of a National Socialist state is the family and folk community. The importance of family as the guarantee of the continuation of a healthy population and the continued knowledge of heritage, history and tradition.

In the modern National Socialist community, family remains the central core, our children are our future. As encapsulated in the NS message of the "14 Words". As we have stated on the pages of this series before, the message of the "14 Words" is merely a modern adaptation of the original National Socialist slogans of 'Blood and Soil'. A series of booklets were published in Germany and Western Europe during the 1930's and early 1940's to stress the importance of the European genetic bloodlines and the need for healthy families. In modern Britain and Europe those bloodlines and the gene-pool of the Celtic, Germanic and Nordic peoples is directly threatened by the presence in our homelands of non-Aryan peoples and the disastrous consequences of race-mixing. In the UK the fastest growing sections of the population are the children of Asian immigrants and the children of mixed race relationships.

The beauty of age of Nordic people has its own mark. The knowledge of the peaks and valleys of life, lived victoriously to the end and passed on to grandchildren, speaks from these faces. We owe our existence, our physical appearance, our spiritual and our character to the eternally returning life from the generations of our ancestors before us.

"SS Man Be Fruitful!"

The British Movement is committed to the concept of a family and folk community. The future of the British rests in the family and the determination of our women-folk to bring White children into the world. The decline in the White birth-rate on Britain and mainland Europe is a serious threat to the survival of White Europe.

It is an established fact that Nature abhors a vacuum and where White children are absent the non-whites will occupy the empty spaces. Coinciding with the period that the non-whites began to settle in Britain the White population began to have smaller families, or in more recent times no children at all. Meanwhile the immigrants have continued to have large families, effectively out-breeding the White British and capturing for themselves a greater percentage of the future population. Fortunately in recent years a number of British National Socialists have recognised the old truths and have ensured that instead of just one or two children, they have families of at least three, sometimes four or five healthy Aryan children. As one British Movement member, and father of six children stated a few years ago, his intention was, "to out-breed the Pakis" The future of our Race and Nation rests in the birthrate of racially aware and committed NS couples.

REMEMBERING THE HUNGARIAN UPRISING OF 1956

This year, 2006, marks the 50th Anniversary of the Hungarian Uprising against the oppressive Communist puppet regime in 1956. The Hungarian communist regime had been installed by the Soviet Red Army in 1945. It retained power by routinely arresting, torturing and ill-treating dissidents in labour camps, forced labour stone quarries and prisons controlled by the Secret Police.

Many of the prominent positions in both the Hungarian Government and the Communist Party were held by Jews. A good example was Matthias Rakosi, he was Prime Minister from 1947 to 1953 and General Secretary of the Communist Party from 1944 to 1956. He was born as Matthias Roth on March 9th 1892, the son of a Jewish grocer. During the First World War he became a Communist and met Lenin, who sent Roth to Moscow for training. Lenin then sent Roth back into Hungary, where a Communist regime was being established by the notorious Bela Kun, another Jew. Hungary would not easily forget the bloody 133 days of Kun's 'Soviet Republic'.

Kun's murder gangs began their 'revolution' by slaughtering so-called "Counter-revolutionaries". Eventually the Hungarian people led by Admiral Horthy, rose up and drove out the Communists, Kun and his followers, including Roth/Rakosi fled to Moscow. Sadly they returned to Hungary in 1945 in the slipstream of the Red Army to re-establish a Soviet Hungary. By 1956 the situation in Hungary had deteriorated to such an extent that on October 23rd an uprising against the Communist regime began. It was widely supported by all sections of society. The freedom fighters received encouragement from the American CIA and Radio Free Europe. However, no practical help came from the Western governments, who to their eternal shame left the brave Hungarian people to be crushed by the tanks of the Soviet Union, when the Red Army invaded Hungary on November 4th 1956.

About 200,000 Hungarians escaped to exile in the West, but the rest were left to their fate - more imprisonment, torture and executions as the Communist regime took its revenge.

In 1989 when the Soviet Bloc collapsed, Hungary achieved 'independence'. However, since then it has been ruled by former Communists masquerading as 'social democrats'. In 2004 it substituted the yoke of Soviet Communism for the Stalinist style bureaucracy of the European Union. Thus once again the Hungarian people are oppressed by this pseudo-democratic multi-national regime. Hopefully the Hungarians will soon see the light and an Uprising will save Hungary again.

IMMIGRATION

During recent weeks the Government and the media have woken up to the fact that there is a problem with the rising tide of immigrants. Official figures were also announced indicating that the population of the UK has now passed the 60 million mark. Bearing in mind the number of 'illegals' amongst us, no doubt another few million can be added to that total. What is the Government's response? Ministers have stated that they would like to see an open and frank debate about immigration with no subject taboo. They also said that those who question the number of immigrants should not be branded as racist! I am sure that all Movement members and supporters had a good laugh about this 'sick' joke. The last thing that the Government will allow is a real debate about immigration! The Government's idea of a debate is to start a consultation exercise with the 'ethnic minority' communities and to let loose the likes of Trevor Phillips from the Commission for Racial Equality to make speeches about the great benefits of diversity, inclusivity and integration.

Meanwhile the media is diverting attention by concentrating on the number of Polish plumbers and bus drivers and speculating about the number of arrivals from Bulgaria and Romania next year. The above is all a red herring. We can be certain that there will be no consultations with the true representatives of the indigenous White community. There will also be no discussions or debates about the numbers of non-Whites already here and their birth rates, which are much higher than those of the White population. A further factor is the increasing number of White people who are emigrating.

The whole racial and ethnic character of the UK is changing. The Movement must combat this by putting the two 'R' words - RACE and REPATRIATION on the political agenda. It is too late and also pointless to talk about quotas and numbers with regard to East Europeans. This is irrelevant! There must be no compromise on the question of integration and race mixing. Both mean the pollution and eventual elimination of the White race and the destruction of Western civilisation. Thus we must join with our comrades throughout Europe in the battle to restore Europe as the homeland for all the White Folk communities. This means the removal of all those who are racially unacceptable.

The Movement's mission must be to struggle for a White Britain within a White Europe. WHITE POWER.

RADICAL OPINIONS

NOTIONS

9 November 2006

"I soon became enraged by the hideous spectacle that met my eyes. several hundred representatives were thereto discuss a problem of great economical importance and each representative had the right to have his say...The intellectual level of the debate was quite low. sometimes the debaters did not make themselves intelligible at all...Thus I had the opportunity of hearing with my own ears what I had hitherto been acquainted with only through reading the newspapers. a turbulent mass of people, all gesticulating and bawling against one another, with a pathetic old man shaking his bell and making frantic efforts to call the House to a sense of its dignity by friendly appeals, exhortations and grave warnings.

I could not refrain from laughing.

several weeks later I paid a second visit. this time the House presented an entirely different picture, so much so that one could hardly recognise it as the same place. The hall was practically empty. they were sleeping in the other rooms below. only a few deputies were in their places, yawning in each other's faces. One was speechifying. A deputy speaker was in the chair. When he looked round it was quite plain that he felt bored...

A number of problems presented themselves before my mind. I studied more closely the democratic principle of decision by the majority vote and I scrutinised no less carefully the intellectual and moral worth of the gentlemen who, as the chosen representatives of the nation. Thus it happened that at one and the same time I came to know the institution itself and those of whom it was composed. And it was thus that, within the course of a few years, I came to form a clear and vivid picture of the average type of that most lightly worshipped phenomenon of our time - the parliamentary deputy. The picture of him which I then formed became deeply engraved on my mind and I have never altered it since, at least as far as essentials go".

So wrote Adolf Hitler in 1924 of the Austrian Parliament in the years following the First World War. Replace "deputies" with MP's, Members of Parliament, "old man shaking his bell" with old man or woman shouting Order, Order and you have the exact spectacle of the House of Commons, the "Mother of Parliaments". Indeed, if you watch the Parliamentary Channel on satellite television Adolf Hitler's description is there in picture form. There is the essence of democracy in full flow - at least when it operates, which grows less and less with the passage of time. And of course, with that passage of time "gentlemen" deputies become men and women MP's. From that place streams the tidal wave of legislation, hundreds of Acts and Bills, Regulations and Decrees, the majority of which now emanates from the Faceless Ones of Brussels in the self-styled European Union. Every piece of red tape is made up there, every tax, every petty, spiteful, coercive restriction and all the madness from the plethora of quangos, the Health and Safety Commissars, the Race Relations apparatchiks, the dumbed down entire educational system....all as a result of these mattoids and one-time two-bit lawyers, obsolete trade union officials, PR dummies, councillors, directors...and queers.

"Democracy", wrote Adolf Hitler, "as practised in Western Europe today, is the forerunner of Marxism. In fact, the latter would not be conceivable without the former. Democracy is the breeding-ground in which the bacilli of the Marxist world pest can grow and spread. By the introduction of parliamentarianism democracy produced an abortion of filth and fire, the creative fire of which, however, seems to have died out". And what else is this oft-repeated mantra of our times - political correctness - but cultural communism, the diseased ideology of 1920's Marxism originating in the Institute of Social Research in Germany which came to be known as the Frankfurt School, the leading advocate of which was Herbert Marcuse. He escaped before the National Socialist government could lay their hands on him and took his plans of "the great refusal", meaning that people should reject and subvert the existing social order as repressive and conformist without waiting for a revolution, to America where it later became embodied in its widespread poisonous fruits multiculturalism, feminism, racial and gender quotas, the undermining of religious beliefs, sex education beginning in the kindergarten, the brutalization of all art forms and much else which today disfigure and degrade the societies not solely of the USA but also Western Europe including this country, perhaps the most affected country with the USA. By definition, culture is more than art, classical music, literature and so forth. It is "the sum total of ways of living built up by a group of human beings which is transmitted from one generation to another" - a group, it need hardly be said, which is homogenous, of the same race, nation and language. The aim of the cultural communists is the destruction of the underpinning ways of living. Hence we have homosexual "marriages", radical feminism with women in the armed services and former male only institutions, the promotion of single parenthood, sex and race equality, cripples and the disabled equated with the fit and strong, nearly every traditional pastime subjected to pettifogging rules and regulations, piles of stones, unmade beds, empty rooms, fish in formaldehyde treated as art forms, miscegenation and promiscuity encouraged by the degenerates in the media, rampant pornography, a drug culture allowed to flourish to the impairment and sometimes death of many - the catalogue of such societal degeneration is extensive. Political correctness - Cultural communism. Democracy=the breeding-ground of Marxism, the forerunner of the bacilli of Marxism, in the prescient words of Adolf Hitler.

But where is the challenge to this obsolescent system of running society? Obviously, the selfsame precepts and movement originated by Adolf Hitler will replace democracy one day but for that to happen National Socialism must be put across to the people not solely of this country or just a few nations but all, as a counter to and ultimate replacement of democracy and the eradication of alien ideologies such as Islam, now welcomed into our midst by the democratic traitors now in power. But, "Of course, the miserable army of our present-day citizens, will never understand this. They will laugh at it or shrug their crooked shoulders and moan forth their everlasting excuse: That would be very nice in itself, of course, but it can't be done! True, with you it can no longer be done - your world isn't fit for it! You know but one concern: your personal life, and one god - your money! But we are not addressing ourselves to you, but to that great army of those who do not see the ruling principle of their existence in gold, but in other gods". Adolf Hitler.

British Movement Women's Division

I am a proud British woman. I am proud of the colour of my skin, of who I am and I am proud of my folk and ancestry. Nothing is more abhorrent to me than to think of having to cover myself from head to toe in a black veil allowing only my eyes to show through what looks like nothing more than a letterbox! And yet, in a recent poll, the majority of 16-24 year old 'British Muslims' say they think that all women should wear the veil!

This result is quite frightening but it also angered me greatly.

The Muslims may consider their women too ugly to show their faces to the world, but I certainly pride myself in the sight of our beautiful white women and definitely consider them worthy of being seen. The beauty of our own people is as valuable a part of our heritage as our history, the landscape of our countryside and the stone that was cut from the land to build our historic towns and cities. OUR Britain has been built by the blood sweat and toil of White British hands and that is something for all of us to be proud of. Our women have supported, nurtured and raised the families that have built this country of OURS and unlike the Muslim culture who appear to be ashamed of their women and wish to keep them covered up, we are proud to see them and greet them as the sisters of our White race.

It appears strange to me, and believe me I have no religious persuasion, that if a woman is so devout in her belief of her god and she is instructed by her religion to keep herself to one man, why then should her husband wish to keep her looks all to himself? Surely he does not cover her beauty for the sake of his own greed, to prevent others from sharing such a god-given face? Perhaps he is ashamed of her? Or perhaps he thinks if other men look upon her that they will desire her, surely this is something to be proud of and not to hide or be ashamed of? Or perhaps it is that Muslim men are so ugly that they keep their wives covered so that they have no fear of them running off with another better looking man? So many questions! Not enough answers! Of course it may simply be that the Muslim religion which is predominantly headed by men, hold women in general in such low esteem and with such little respect that they wish to remove every woman's sense of individuality. Could it be, that they demand instead the blurring of each of their womens' existence by covering every one in the same black veil? I leave the consideration to you, the reader, but on a final note would also ask you to think about the criminal element among our 'British' Asian friends, who flee the country dressed in the full veil to escape arrest and wonder if this is perhaps the reason for the veil after all?

Manchester Schoolgirl Held in Police Cells For Objecting To Being Forced To Take Lessons With Asian Students Who Cannot Speak English.

October 2006 - Harrop Fold High School in Salford. A 14 year old schoolgirl, Codie Stott was arrested in school and taken by police to the juvenile unit at Swinton Police Station, where she was held for 5 hours, after being finger-printed and body-searched. Her crime?

SHE WAS HELD ON SUSPICION OF MAKING A RACIST REMARK !

Codie Stott is a Year 10 student and objected when she was placed in a science tutorial group with five Asian students, of which four could not speak English. One of the Asians, a Pakistani, was a 17 year old in a class of 14 year old students.

Codie asked the class teacher to be moved to another group because, "I can't understand a word they are saying".

She was immediately accused of making a racist remark and was sent to the school's isolation unit (a segregation room reserved for detaining violent or disruptive students). The school's community police officer was brought into the school to remove Codie Stott to the Police Station. After 5 hours detention in the juvenile cell Codie was released without charge, but the school stated that the 'incident' would be referred to a meeting of parents and governors and might be taken back to the police for action. Greater Manchester Police later confirmed that Codie Stott had been detained and questioned regarding a racial Public Order offence.

BUILDING AN N.S. FUTURE

Breaking the Back of the Multi-Racial Society

The Multi-cultural experiment has failed - so we must drive home the message at every opportunity...

The multi-racialists, the liberals and their left-wing allies believe that the only way to protect their failed multi-racial experiment in social engineering is to force through the acceptance of multi-cultural Britain and 'diversity' by silencing any kind of protest and criticism.

They think they can achieve this by branding anything that challenges their world view as 'Racist'.

They are determined to make any opposition to multi-racialism as socially unacceptable. A recent BBC Radio 2 programme floated the question "How do you challenge a racist comment in a conversation with friends?" to a phone-in audience. Of course the presenter had a couple of conveniently anti-racist guests in the studio and predictable series of phone-in guests supported the idea that "No racist comments should be tolerated" and even in the company of close friends, "any racist views should be challenged and put down."

The idea being floated of course is that they liberal opinion shapers want to outlaw any kind of comment or opinion that does not match up with their view of race and immigration.

It is our duty as National Socialists or British Nationalists to reject this kind of brain washing at every opportunity.

Instead of backing down on our opinions we should counter attack this kind of nonsense with common sense challenges. We must encourage ordinary Britons to refuse to be bullied into changing their views and statements by this kind of overbearing attitudes. This is liberal and soft-left 'nanny-state' thinking at its worst. We must reverse the average citizens acceptance of this kind of opinion shaping. A rejection of every facet of multi-culturalism has to be our target. Others will be encouraged to follow our example when they can see that there are people out there who refuse to bend their knee to the concept of multi-racial Britain and who will not accept the ideas of multi-ethnic 'diversity'.

The liberals and the political Left believe that they can defeat what they term, 'Racism' and 'Racists' by challenging it at every turn - we can play at that game too!

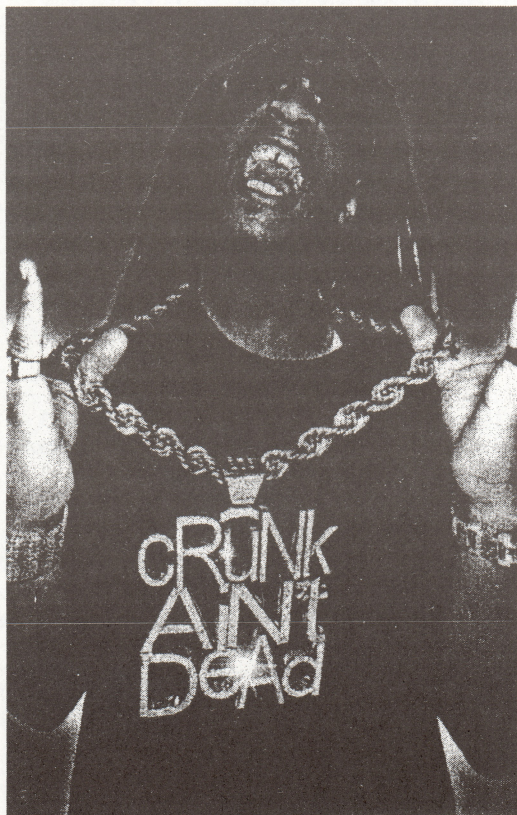

Ever since the 1970's the self-styled anti-racist (for that read - pro-non-white immigration and pro-multi-racialists) have hidden their ideology behind dubious slogans and campaign headlines such as 'Unite Against Racism & Fascism', 'Don't let racism divide communities' or even more nanny-state, 'Educate and Debate against the politics of hate'.

This latter slogan has always conveniently ignored their hatred of traditional British values and history, because they want to replace White Britain with a multi-ethnic 'diverse' culture and by "educate" they mean re-educate in an Orwellian/ Soviet-Union style. What they ignore is that the British public has always disliked change and does not want to be forced into accepting alien cultures, lifestyles and religions. As National Socialists we can build on all this; it must be WE that challenge, it must be WE that refuse to let multi-culturalism divide OUR communities; it must be WE who argue and organise against the multi-racial society and refuse to accept THEIR lies...

We can organise, agitate and defeat the race-mixers. We can break the back of the multi-racial society and shunt it into the dustbin of history where all such failed Marxist experiments belong!

THIS IS THE KIND OF IMAGE THAT OUR CHILDREN ARE BEING BOMBARDED WITH....

This is what we are up against, the mass media are actively promoting non-White role models for OUR children to emulate.

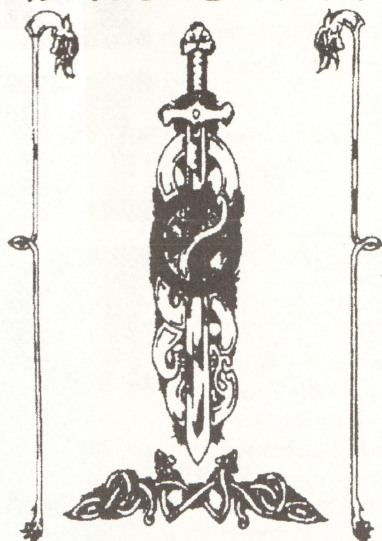

Ever since the 1960's there has been a concerted campaign in the British media to encourage the White population of Britain to first accept, then integrate with the ever increasing non-white population. This has been an ideologically driven campaign of social engineering and effective mass opinion shaping on a enormous scale. Television, radio, the news papers, and particularly the advertising industry have collaborated on 'brainwashing' an entire generation into accepting the presence of non-white, non-British people in their midst and encouraging the youth and children to adopt the fashions, music and social attitudes of the non-whites. Although the British people are constantly reminded that the entire non-white population of Britain is less than 10% of the entire population of the UK, the ever increasing number of black and brown faces presenting TV news and entertainment programmes gives an entirely different picture. Even worse is the increasing use of mixed race couples in advertising, especially the image of young White women in intimate relationships with black men.

IN BUILDING A NATIONAL SOCIALIST ALTERNATIVE THIS IS WHAT WE ARE UP AGAINST. The mass media have enormous resources but we must challenge this kind of imagery as unacceptable at every opportunity and force a change. We have to counter their 40 plus years of brainwashing and begin the Aryan fight back.

Dear Broadsword,

I was very interested to read in Broadsword 29 about the stand the editor is taking regarding the high moral standards and principles of the Germanic SS and the SS Family Book, also plus the first in a series of booklets to accompany the BM Family Book at some stage.

I also have a religious interest in returning to heathen times as on p15 of Broadsword 29, in fact everything written on this page for me says it all.

Reading Broadsword 27 p20. Building an NS future.

I am looking forward with interest in the creating of an active calendar based on NS traditions and supported with the older Aryan folk traditions that must add interest in returning to heathen times.

These were just a few thoughts of mine showing my appreciation for the British Movement's existence and I would appreciate your comments on any of the above if you have time to spare which

Dear Broadsword,

Thank you for sending me my first issue of Broadsword, no 31. It was a pleasure to read a national socialist magazine that focused on the ideals of national socialism and how they can apply to Britain and omitted any mention of regalia and uniforms of the 1930's. I look forward to receiving future issues.

I particularly enjoyed the historical articles and know little of this period of Britain's past. I noticed that Second Chance sell some materials on ancient Britain so I hope to be able to learn more about this in the future. Although the Romans may have been a 'foreign people' in terms of culture, they were Aryans, of our racial stock. The conflict between the Romans and the Celts would seem to have been cultural and religions, rather than racial. The author of these articles was right to reject the multi-racial propaganda of the Marxist historians. With regard to the Roman destruction of the Druidic faith, one theory is that the Druids practised human sacrifice which so horrified the Romans that it led to the massacres of Anglesey. Does your author know whether there was any truth in this claim? The Romans were known for their religious tolerance so it does seem out of character for the Romans to launch religious persecutions.

Many thanks, M.D., Harrogate.

Dear Broadsword

How right you are to point out in No31, "Broadsword" that Democracy as we know it is a hoax.

In Britain there is a committee of 12 to 14 unelected men known as the "Crown" who rule the "City" (of London), which is a privately owned Corporation-Sovereign State (Vatican of the Commercial World) - occupying 677 acres (The Square Mile) in the heart of the 510 square mile, dictate to our 'elected' British Parliament, as demonstrated with the Suez Canal War and now the illegal Afghan-Iraq war, and are not subject to the Sovereign.

The "City" has it's own Lord Mayor (not to be confused with Greater London's Mayor Ken Livingstone who is elected but is not a Lord Mayor), it's own independent "City" of London Police and here is grouped the privately owned Bank of "England", London Stock Exchange, Lloyds of London and most of the international trading concerns.

When our Queen visits the "City" she is met by the Lord Mayor at Temple Bar, she bows and asks permission to enter his private Sovereign State. He grants permission to enter by handing her the sword of the State. During such State visits, the Lord Mayor in his chain and robes and his entourage in mediaeval costumes, outshines the royal party, who can dress up no further than service uniforms. The Lord Mayor leads the Queen into the "City", staying a pace or two behind him. There were two separate empires. One was the British Empire, such as Australasia, Canada and others which were considered "White" and were governed under the Sovereign and British Law. The other was the "Crown" Empire, which included mainly lands containing coloured people and known as "Crown" Colonies, having separate laws.

The "City" reaped scandalous wealth from the Empire(s) for the international bankers and our condoning aristocracy, as British taxpayers paid for the naval and military forces used to maintain the "Crown's" supremacy throughout most of the world, with much bloodshed and escalating National Debt - while British peasants lived poverty stricken, in back-to-back slums.

Yours faithfully

WHAT WAS RED KEN LIVINGSTONE DOING IN CUBA?

The Mayor of London, Ken Livingstone visited Cuba and Venezuela in the Autumn of 2006 in a socialist inspired holiday/official visit jaunt that cost the London council-tax payers at least £30,000.

Red Ken Livingstone is well known for his admiration of the Marxist regime in Cuba and appears to be keen to get closely involved with the leftist president of Venezuela, Hugo Chavez, the current pin-up of the socialist Left.

A Look At Rochdale's Future?

Rochdale, Lancashire flew the flag of Pakistan above its town hall from August 14th to August 20th 2006 to celebrate the anniversary of Pakistan's independence.

For some reason there were no other flags being flown from the building, the British Union flag was nowhere to be seen.

Rochdale has a large Pakistani community and just perhaps the sight of their flag dominating the town hall instead of Britain's national flag was just wishful thinking or perhaps a dry run for the future?

Livingstone Visited Families of Cuban Terrorists in US Prison

While the London Mayor was busy lapping up the socialist atmosphere in Venezuela and Cuba, he was apparently seized with revolutionary zeal and decided to drop in to visit the families of the 'Miami Five Heroes' who are five Cubans arrested and jailed in the USA as spies and terrorists.

The 'Miami Five' were arrested by the FBI in 1998 and jailed in 2001 for spying on US military bases for communist Cuba, one of the 'Five' was also convicted of conspiracy to murder.

However in Cuba they are regarded as the 'Miami Five Heroes'.

Ken Livingstone's visit to the families of the 'Miami Five' is seen as supporting Cuba in the face of the USA.

GETS OUT OF CONTROL

WORTHY COMMITMENT LEADERSHIP HONOUR

GERMAN GOVERNMENT PUSHES E.U. TO MAKE 'HOLOCAUST DENIAL' ILLEGAL EUROPE-WIDE.

The German Government is pushing forward demands for the European Parliament to make 'Holocaust Denial' a crime across the European Union including Britain and Ireland.

In addition the same political demands include making statements of support for the politics of the Third Reich an offence across the EU and also making the German laws on the display of the swastika and other National Socialist emblems an offence in all European member states. This would of course include Britain, but is also aimed at countries like Denmark where NS organisations openly display swastika flags and campaign openly in NS uniforms.

If these demands were to be included in UK laws, it would certainly impact on British Movement because the BM's open declaration of National Socialism would become illegal and the Sunwheel emblem of the BM is currently listed in Germany as an 'illegal' National Socialist emblem.
